VFW encourages community to support Fourth of July parade

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

Independence Day celebration is a big part of Grayling tradition. The community takes great pride in its annual fireworks display as Crawford County celebrates America's birth.

Interestingly, the annual Independence Day parade has not managed to have the same impact. For whatever reason, participation in the parade is always very limited, especially compared to the AuSable River Festival Parade (formerly the Milltown Parade), which is held a few weeks later.

The parade will take place at 11 a.m., with the parade route starting on Lake Street. Float submissions for this year's parade thus far are some of the lowest they have ever been.

"The first couple of years we had a good response and after that it started dropping off," said event organizer Bonnie Poll.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) began hosting an Independence Day parade 10 years ago after the community had gone years without having any holiday parade at all. Poll, who has been organizing the parade since it was revived a decade ago, says she has "no idea" why the event receives a relatively poor response.

There is a small, dedicated group of organizations that submit a float each year, including hospice and local boy scout and girl scout clubs, but many larger organizations choose not to participate.

It is also notable that although the event tends to have low participation, there is usually a fairly large spectator turnout. Any organization that wishes to submit a float or other parade display is sure to get plenty of exposure.

It is likely that many organizations feel they only have the time and resources to participate in one parade each summer. Poll urges the community to try to make time for this patriotic event as well as the AuSable River Festival Parade.

"To me, it's for the military," said Poll. "We want the community to support them...that's what it's about."

City seeks estimates for downtown project

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Grayling City officials are seeking the price tag for the engineering costs for a project aimed at giving the downtown business district a shot in the arm.

The Grayling City Council, last week, voted to seek an estimate on what it will cost for the infrastructure project planned by the city's Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

The DDA is hoping to repave Michigan Avenue and install landscaped brick sidewalks to make the downtown district a more inviting place to visit and shop.

Initially, the DDA planned for a $1.2 to $1.4 million project. The project was scaled to $1 million by a committee of DDA and city council officials.

Some landscaped curb islands, which extend into the street, were deleted from the project. Concrete benches, which were planned to be placed outside of businesses, were also removed from the project.

Forest Dunes begins push for housing sales

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Developers for the Forest Dunes Golf Club are taking a second swing at establishing housing on the property.

The Crawford County Planning Commission last week approved an amendment for the first phase of the multi-million dollar development located off of Chase Bridge Road in South Branch Township.

Under the changes, the site plan for condominium and housing units has been reduced from 344 units to 114 units.

Lots are being marketed around the man-made lake which was built as part of the development as well as lots that are located adjacent to the golf course.

Six models of two and three-bedroom homes, which range from 1,010 square feet to 2,412 square feet have been developed along with the marketing plans. There are also plans for custom homes for up to 3,000 square feet.

"We think this is a wonderful development for our area and the tax base which will bring in more people and activity which we certainly need right now," said Ruth Clemens, a real estate

Pair of road rebuilds to proceed

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Grayling Township Board gave the go ahead for two road reconstruction projects last week.

The board approved contracts with the Crawford County Road Commission to rebuild a portion of Ole Dam Road and the entire length of Margrethe Boulevard.

Old Dam Road from the AuSable River Bridge leading into Sherwood Forest subdivision will be reconstructed. The cost of the project is $44,000.

The cost for reconstruction for Margrethe Boulevard is $204,000.

The Crawford County Road Commission is funding 50 percent of the costs for both projects. Grayling Township is paying for the other 50 percent of the costs, then will bill property owners who live along the roadways for 25 percent of the project costs through a special tax assessment.

Road Commission crews will begin work on the projects this summer after a road building firm has been hired to come in and regrind the existing pavement on the roads, said Don Babcock, manager for the Crawford County Road Commission.

Hazardous Waste Collection

Crawford County held its annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day on Saturday in the parking lot of the county building. Drug and Lab Disposal, Inc. of Plainwell, hauled between 11,000 to 12,000 pounds of hazardous waste collected from county residents, said Bruce Patrick, the environmental monitor for Crawford County. MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Ashton to serve as river parade marshal

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

With a theme of "Music, Music, Music" selected for this year's AuSable River Festival Parade it was a logical choice to tap a veteran Grayling musician to be at the head of the line.

The AuSable River Festival Parade Committee, last week, selected Brian Ashton to be the parade marshal for the parade which will be held at 3 p.m. on Saturday, July 29.

While Ashton has been performing in front of crowds in North America for decades, he was taken aback when he was asked to be the parade marshal.

"I'm thrilled, amazed and I am speechless," Ashton said. "It's quite a honor."

Ashton, 63, has been a Grayling resident for 60 years and is a Grayling High School graduate. He went to the Community of Christ Church in Grayling with his mother, Dorthia, five times a week, and started singing there as a boy.

Ashton has loved music all of his life. He was very involved in music in school, and held the first-chair as a drummer through his time in high school.

Ashton started playing drums professionally in 1961 in a band, then changed to bass guitar in 1965. In 1970, Ashton changed to playing lead guitar and then learned how to play the piano.

Ashton traveled for 30 years in American and Canada as a professional musician. He has shared the stage with such acts as Bob Segar, Tonya Tucker, Mark Farmer from Grand Funk Railroad and Jerry Lee Lewis.

For eight years, Ashton played in the house band Southern Pride at the Red Barn in Grayling.

Two and half years ago, Ashton started a teaching program and has devoted many hours to young children, teaching them how to play drums, bass guitar, lead guitar, piano and how to sing. Ashton currently has 46 students enrolled in his classes, which he teaches at a studio located at Dharma Music.

Ashton is married to his wife, Renee, and is a self described "Red, White and Blue" man, loves America and is a Christian.

Ashton, who will play with a six-piece band during the parade, is in charge of a committee that has arranged for other bands to be in the parade and at sites in town following the parade. The other acts include C.C. and South Purpose, Whizbang, Gypsy North and Avalanche.

"We're just trying to give back to the community for all of their support throughout the years," he said.

Ashton is scheduled to perform for the first Grayling Summer Music Series from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday, June 22 on the lawn at Citizen's Bank. He will also perform with his blue grass band at Wellington Farm, USA this summer, as well as other occasional gigs in Northern Michigan.

"I'm supposed to be retired, but I still enjoy playing," he said. Neal Michal, another member of the AuSable River Parade Committee, recommended Ashton for the grand marshal.

"Brian has done so much work to get bands to be part of the parade that it just seemed like a natural fit," said Carole Herdrich, the secretary for the AuSable River Festival Parade Committee.

Several Grayling residents have come forward in recent months to help organize the AuSable River Parade.

"Everything really all seems to be falling into place quite well," Herdrich said.

Grayling Promotional Association (GPA) members organized the AuSable Canoe Marathon Parade for years, but asked for other Grayling residents and civic organizations to help organize the parade this year.

GPA in recent years obtained status as a 501-C3 non-profit organization. Members of the organization have learned that they can sponsor a band, award or float in the parade, but providing full financial support for the event put the non-profit status in jeopardy.

OPINIONS

by Richard L. Milliman

Former governor offers great advice

FORMER MICHIGAN Gov. Bill Milliken can evoke a variety of memories with his long tenure in state office, starting as a state senator in the 1950s, then lieutenant governor in the 1960s, and finally as Michigan's longest serving governor through the 1970s until he finally retired in 1983.

He was a Republican, but embraced the art of practical politics and followed a political ideology foreign to many Michigan Republicans at the time, and still. During much of his time as governor, Democrats controlled the legislature, but as a Republican governor, he got along remarkably well with the other side, which delighted many Democrats but rankled many of his own party.

Regardless of any partisan differences, one quality of Bill Milliken stood out to all. He always was sincere, and did what he believed was right and what he considered best for the people of Michigan. He was and is a true gentleman, in the historic sense.

Partisanship simmered at times during the Milliken years in Michigan, usually stirred by Bill Milliken's fellow Republicans who considered him less than doctrinaire. That he was, and still is ... but he won elections.

BILL MILLIKEN these days has been popping up here and there in public, signing a newly published authorized biography, making an infrequent talk here and there, and once in a while sitting for an interview, including a statewide TV show scheduled to air this week.

The state of politics today often arises. The mild Mr. Milliken doesn't like it - too much partisanship, too sharp and divisive, too demeaning, and definitely too controlling.

Public decisions affecting the public welfare should not be made that way, he contends.

Tim Skubick, veteran Michigan electronic newscaster and sometimes columnist, recently discussed with Mr. Milliken proposed commutation for 14 female state prisoners. Mr. Milliken believes clemency should be granted for at least some of the inmates, but Gov. Jennifer Granholm has denied commutation.

Mr. Skubick writes: "Reminded that the public does not like early releases, and that the governor (Ms. Granholm) is running for re-election, Milliken was blunt. 'There comes a time when one has to say politics be damned; I will do the right thing and I will do it now.'"

The Skubick column continued: "Speaking in general and not specifically about this governor, Milliken noted that to be a good governor, you have to be willing to expend political capital; to 'pay the price.' And if one 'is not willing to pay that price,' he went on, 'then that person does not deserve to be in public life.'"

That certainly sounds like vintage Bill Milliken.

For emphasis, and to localize the Milliken remarks, Mr. Skubick added his own exclamation point: "Lots of ears in this town (the state capital) should be ringing."

Indeed.

SAD TO SAY, Mr. Milliken has put his finger directly on one of the major problems of representative government.

Too many elected officials at all levels - from the township board and city council all the way to the United States senate and the presidency - become overly enamored of the roles they play and the powers they wield.

Don't do anything controversial, or you may lose votes. If following your conscience means losing votes, then disregard your conscience. Do what is popular, not what is right.

"Politics be damned. I will do the right thing and I will do it now," advises Gov. Bill Milliken, based on his own lifetime of successful politics. He retired undefeated at the voting booth, too.

"Politics be damned. I will do the right thing."

That's a pretty good campaign platform right there.

Unfortunately, hardly anyone will adopt it; and once in office, hardly anyone will follow that advice.

Some will, however. If you find one, then embrace and encourage him/her, and maybe others will follow.

NEWT AGAIN? - Former US House Speaker Newt Gingrich seems to be tickling the presidential waters at least with his little toe.

"If there's a wide open field in the fall of next year, I probably will be a candidate. The country is ready for real change," he is quoted as saying on a recent TV interview.

Yeah, but ... is the country ready for Newt Gingrich?

To paraphrase the Bette Davis character in a famous old movie: Fasten your seat belts, folks. We may be in for a very bumpy ride.

EDITOR

Obey the law

To the editor,

I represent about twenty five families in our area. I was going to respond to the nonsense letter from some woman about "don't pick on our kids" and has spoken to most of the members of our neighborhood group about a letter of support to the sheriff. All supported me in my quest to vindicate the sheriff's department. The answer to her grief is simple - "obey the law."

We live in a congested area and are victims to many speeders and stop sign violators. We have conveyed our feeling to the sheriff and he has responded in an excellent fashion. Of course when the infractions occur at times the officers aren't right there.

Well let me tell you a story with a happy ending. Two days ago a sixteen year old driver was squealing the tires and speeding on our road. My wife shouted at the driver to stop, from our front porch, and all the driver did was return and repeat the process and about rolled the driver's mother's car on its top in the process, much to my chagrin. I reported the license plate and auto description to 911.

Less than one hour later Officer Jason Alexander found us and explained that not only had he found the young driver but had removed his probationary driver's license from him. He said he knew the young driver from his duties at the high school and the individual started crying when confronted about my allegations.

Now the real success part of the story. The young driver's mother supported the officer's actions one hundred percent, was very upset with her child, and took some corrective action right on the spot to include having her child apologize to my wife and I for his stupid actions. Isn't that refreshing? My guess is that she doesn't condescend to the saying "don't pick on our kids" but rather is happy that responsibility had occurred and her young child was still alive.

Officer Alexander is an outstanding young man and like his peers and the entire sheriff's department that is doing an excellent job for all of us, in my opinion. He and the 911 folks are to be commended for their excellent actions that evening. Officer Alexander had effectively removed a young reckless driver from our streets and maybe his actions and the story that will flow from it will wake some drivers up - that is if they are intelligent enough to understand three simple words - "Obey the Law."

The violator is the one who needs to change

To the editor,

Fair application of the law is important and proper. So is taking personal responsibility for ones errors. Blaming police officers is all to common and wrong.

The officers of the Crawford County Sheriff Dept., like all law enforcement in the state, are bound by an Oath of Office to enforce the laws of the State of Michigan.

When there is frequent contact between officers and individuals who habitually violate those laws, there is a need for change and the violator is the one who needs to change. That individual needs to review the behaviors that led to the conflict, no doubt that the officer informed them of the improper conduct.

How to prevent being pulled over in the future? It is as simple as reviewing the errors of the past and not repeating them. Negative contact with police officers will cease.

Adult drivers know this and while young drivers should know this, it is important for their parents and mentors not to let them off the hook by blaming police for "stalking" them and "picking on them."

Instead, be serious with the young about their obligation to act in a manner that avoids conflict with the laws enacted for the safety and well being of all citizens. Then, hopefully, they will live a long life that does not endanger themselves or society.

I offer up my gratitude for our local officers who do not shrink away from their often times unpopular duty.

VIEWPOINT

by Chris Nieman - Crawford - Roscommon Conservation District

Fire season prevention

The risk of losing one's home to wildfire increases as more people are choosing Northern Michigan as a place to retire or raise a family. More houses are being built outside of city limits in the country and response time from emergency agencies takes longer as distance from response centers increases. Woodlot homes however do not need to fall victim to wildfires. Home owners can take steps that will greatly increase their homes chances of survival should a wildfire occur.

Fire is a chain with three links; each link is dependent on the other, for fire to occur all three need to be present. The first link in the fire chain is oxygen; this link cannot be controlled by the homeowner. However, the next two links, fuel and heat can be. By reducing one or both of these the homeowner can break the chain and greatly increase the chance of their home surviving a wildfire.

Landowners should take the following precautions to make their home defensible against a wildfire. Wood shake roofs should be replaced with metal or some other less combustible material. Eaves should be cleaned and covered as to reduce the chance of ignition by flying embers. Homeowners should establish a "fuel break" around their home and outbuildings. This reduces fuel for the fire which also reduces the fire's heat in a particular area. The first three feet immediately surrounding the home or any outbuilding should be sparse in fuel.

Inorganic mulches such as lava rocks and similar products should be used instead of wood chips. If shrubs are planted in this area they should be deciduous rather than evergreens. Evergreens when dry will burn with great intensity. Finally this area should be cleared of leaves and pine needles, these fine fuels will readily ignite from sparks and flying embers. Needles and leaves should also be raked from around decks, porches and wooden walkways. These suggestions are intended to keep flames from coming in contact with the house or outbuilding.

"Homeowners" seeking a woodsy look for their house placement are often reluctant to remove trees from their yard feeling that to do so would detract from their scenery. However, by reducing heavy fuels such as trees from around the home will reduce the possibility of home ignition from radiant heat. Radiant heat from an intense fire can ignite a home from 33 feet way. Trees within 33 feet from the home should be widely spaced so the trees crowns do not touch. Lower limbs can become ladder fuels which allow the fire to travel from the ground to the crown of the tree. Lower limbs of trees especially evergreens should be pruned 6-8 feet, reducing the chance for a fire to climb into the crown of a tree. Hardwoods would be a better choice for planting rather than conifers in this zone.

Finally within the 30 foot fire break, lawns should be maintained. The lawn in this area should be well kept, mowed, raked and watered. Pay particular attention to grasses around liquid propane tanks and wood stacks. Wood stacks burn very hot and once ignited can take considerable time and resources to control. Also firewood should be placed 25 feet from structures and fuel tanks. If water or time is in short supply native herbaceous ground covers are a good alternative to high-maintenance grasses that require frequent watering to stay green.

The next 70 feet around any home should also be maintained; if possible, in the following manner to reduce the possibility of a crown fire. Fuels such as trees and shrubs less than 6 or 8 feet high and limbs that hang low to the ground act as ladder fuel and should be removed. Trees in this area should be thinned so that their crowns are well spaced and do not touch. Tree torching may still occur, however, either from radiant heat or flying embers, but by reducing the canopy in your yard you will be reducing potential fuel for a crown fire making it less likely to carry.

Homeowners should look at the accessibility to their home from the perspective of a fire fighter and other emergency personnel that have a limited amount of time to respond to a situation. House numbers should be clearly visible from the road and the driveway clearly marked. Most emergency vehicles need 12 feet across and 15 feet high road clearing. Firefighters will not enter an area where they may become trapped. Property owners should provide an area where emergency vehicles can turn around. Gated driveways should be made easily accessible for emergency personnel and their vehicles. Gates should be placed at least 30 feet from the road and open inwards and be at least two feet longer than the width of the driveway. This way, the emergency personnel do not have to block the road to enter the residence. In an emergency situation, firefighters may not have time to break open a gate and may pass by your home because it was inaccessible to them.

Finally, humans are responsible for starting most wildfires in Michigan. Care must be taken when burning leaves and brush, sometimes mulching and composting are better alternatives. Spark arresters should be installed in chimneys and outdoor power equipment such as chain saws and ATV's. Also, home owners should get a burning permit from their local DNR office, have 100 feet of attached garden hose, along with a rake and shovel on hand before burning their yard waste.

Calvarymen Quartet to perform at Lovells Community Chapel

The Calvarymen Quartet will perform a free concert on Sunday, June 25, at 11 a.m. at the Lovells Community Chapel, 8133 Bald Hill Road, Lovells.

The Calvarymen Quartet has been named a favorite in Gospel Music since their origination in 1956.

Named by the Michigan State Legislature as "Michigan's Goodwill Ambassadors" they have represented Michigan many times at the National Quartet Convention in Louisville, Ky., and are currently featured regularly on television stations that play gospel music videos all over the country. Their reputation for great gospel music continues today as this group of men presents the gospel in song throughout their home state of Michigan, the north central United States, and occasionally as far as Kentucky and Florida.

The Calvarymen sing in churches, county fairs, festivals, theaters, and special event stages that have featured them with nearly every top southern gospel group in the nation.

CCUW kicks off summer with the 'Dream Come True' raffle

If you've been around town you've probably seen the brightly colored "Dream Come True" raffle posters displayed at over 40 different Crawford County businesses. The $10,000 cash give away is the Crawford County United Way's (CCUW) summer fund raiser, in hopes of meeting this year's goal of $70,000.

The raffle tickets are purposefully inexpensive at $3 each and 4 for $10. "We wanted to hold a raffle event that everyone could participate in and give the community a reason to dream big at winning the $10,000 cash grand prize," said Director Linda Williams.

"The second thru seventh prizes are all large gift certificates to area businesses. This part of our raffle is designed to keep the shopping dollars at home in Grayling. I hope that everyone will buy one or more tickets for this fun event, help support our local agencies and dream a little about what they could do to improve their lives with the $10,000," said Williams.

The drawing for the raffle will be held at the Fox Run Country Club on Aug. 26 at 5 p.m. The event will feature a Bar B Que under the tent with the popular area band, the Wise Guys, providing the entertainment.

Our goal is to have the best Bar B Que, Grayling has ever had," said Williams.

Tickets for the dinner will go on sale on July 1, for $25 each at the Avalanche office, the Chamber of Commerce and through CCUW Board Members.

The "Dream Come True" drawing event will also host an old fashion pie baking contest, with a $100 cash prize to the winner. Entry forms will be available to all dinner ticket holders.

IRS expands taxpayers' options for direct deposit of refunds

Hoping to encourage higher savings and more banking, the Internal Revenue Service announced that it will create a new program to allow taxpayers who use direct deposit to divide their refunds in up to three financial accounts.

The IRS will create a new form, Form 8888, which will give taxpayers greater control over their refunds. Form 8888 will give taxpayers a choice of selecting one, two or three accounts such as checking, savings and retirement account. Taxpayers who want all their refund deposited directly into one account can still use the appropriate line on the Form 1040 series.

"Direct deposit is growing rapidly and is now used by over half of all refund filers," said IRS Commissioner Mark W. Everson. "This program will give taxpayers the option of depositing a refund into more than one account. Split refunds should encourage saving, and we hope it will dampen demand for refund anticipation loans."

Exact details of the split-refund program, including a draft of Form 8888, are still being decided. The IRS intends to meet with a number of consumer, tax professional and software associations to seek suggestions on operational and promotional details. The program will take effect in January 2007.

More than three-quarters of the nation's taxpayers receive refunds each year. Last year, the average refund was $2,171. The IRS repeatedly has encouraged taxpayers to adjust their payroll withholding to ensure they pay only the taxes required, but some people appear to view payroll withholding as a way to save money.

Direct deposit of refunds was first offered in 1987. Last year, the IRS issued 100 million refunds (from 133 million tax returns) amounting to $217.6 billion. Of those figures, 52.7 million refunds amounting to $134.2 billion were deposited directly into bank accounts.

Currently, taxpayers have two options for receiving their individual federal income tax refunds - a paper check or a direct deposit (electronic funds transfer) into a checking or savings account. The electronic funds transfer gives taxpayers the safety and speed of direct deposit. Taxpayers who file their tax return electronically and opt for direct deposit can receive their refund in two weeks or less.

The split-refund program will allow taxpayers to conveniently designate - at the time they file - and deposit their refunds with any U.S. financial institution as long as they provide valid routing and account numbers. Taxpayers will attach a new Form 8888 to their returns indicating amounts for each allocation and providing account information.

This ability to split or allocate their direct deposit refunds among multiple accounts will be available to all individual filers, whether they file Forms 1040, 1040A/EZ, 1040NR or any of the other 1040 series forms.

The Bible Speaks

Religious Hypocrites Condemned by Pride

Just as God condemned the pagans for rejecting the truth of His power and godhead revealed in creation; and just as God condemned the moralists for rejecting His truth written upon their hearts and witnessed by their conscience; so also, God condemns the religionists for their pride.

Religionists are condemned for their professed image which exalts their own person in Romans 2:17: "17Behold, thou art called a Jew, and retest in the law, and makest thy boast of God." They looked Jesus Christ in the face and said they were Abraham's seed and were never in bondage and had no need of being made free in John 8:33. Jesus told them in John 8:37, 38a: "I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you. Ye do the deeds of your father." The Pharisee Jews answered Jesus in John 8:38b: "We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God." They rejected the virgin birth of the eternal son of God and claimed to be the real or true sons of God.

Religionists are condemned for their professed inerrancy which exalted their own precepts above

God's holy words. "18And knowest his will, and approvest the things that are more excellent, being instructed out of the law." (Romans 2:18). But, they were unbalanced in God's laws. Jesus said to them in Matthew 23:24: "Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel." They questioned Christ's disciples in Matthew 15:2: "Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they wash not their hands when they eat bread." They were talking about ceremonial cleansing established by their traditions. Jesus answered them in Matthew 15:3: "...Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?" The greatest illustration of their evil is the reply of the Jews in John 19:7: "...We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God."

Religionists are condemned for their professed instruction while seeking proselytes. "19And art confident that thou thyself art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness, 20An instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, which hast the form of knowledge and of the truth in the law." (Romans 2:19,20). Jesus told them in Matthew 23:15: "15Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves." Jesus said in Matthew 15:14: "14Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch." Jesus said in John 19:7: "...For judgment I am come into this world, that they which see not might see; and that they which see might be made blind."

False religious leaders are most evil because they are endangering the eternal souls of other human beings. The law condemned this in Deut. 27:18: "18Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way. And all the people shall say, Amen." The first two people God will throw into the lake of fire and brimstone to be tormented day and night forever are the Antichrist and His false prophet. (Rev. 20:10). The person, word and work of our Lord Jesus Christ demand our honest response. Pastor "B"

LIBRARY NEWS

Devereaux Memorial Library

Hold onto your hats and don't blink an eye. Gordon Russ, magician to the world, is coming to the Devereaux Memorial Crawford County Library on Thursday, June 22, at 1 p.m., and prepare to be amazed.

Gordon and his trusty sidekick, George the Raccoon, have traveled the globe, but this time instead of China, England, Israel, Japan, or Australia, Gordon is bringing his unique brand of illusion right to the library, located at 201 Plum Street, Grayling.

A master of audience involvement, Gordon "invents" magic on the spot, using the most ordinary items imaginable. Couple this with a limitless array of tried and true tricks of the trade, and you have a performance that is second to none. "Magic is serious business, but the main idea is fun. I want everybody smiling and saying 'How'd he do that,'" Gordon says.

Whether a street corner in Europe, a school gymnasium, or a packed concert hall, Gordon is at home on any stage. Come along with Gordon on his fantastic adventure and see magic the way it was meant to be...for the fun of it.

For more information call the children's librarian Bambi Mansfield at 989-348-9214.

broker with ERA Real Estate, which has offices in Houghton Lake and Higgins Lake. Developers from a Scottsdale, Ariz. firm began developing Forest Dunes in 1998. The property is now owned by the Carpenters Pension Trust Fund, which obtained the development after several years of financial and legal entanglements. The golf course at Forest Dunes opened to the public in 2002. The course has received several accolades including being named one of the Best New Upscale Courses in America in 2004 by Golf Digest, was included in the 2005 Top Ten Courses You Can Play by Golf World and was in the Top 100 Residential Golf Communities in 2005 by Golf Week. In addition, the development is one of only six properties worldwide that had earned the Audubon International's Gold Signature Development distinction. "We're kind of the bench mark for other people to follow as far as an environmental stewardship for golf developments," said Eric Bronson, the golf pro at Forest Dunes. Forest Dunes is hosting the Michigan Professional Golf Association's Senior and Junior Tournaments this summer. Forest Dunes has a workforce of 100 people who help maintain the course, manage the club house and the club's restaurant, said Jennifer Middleton, the operations coordinator for Forest Dunes. Local officials said they were pleased to accommodate Forest Dunes as the development moves forward. "We felt this was a step in the right direction, making the development more salable as a property, which only goes to help South Branch Township," said Tom Koslowski, the South Branch Township supervisor. "Since 1998 to 2006, the economy has changed, the real estate market has changed and we have to change with it."

scale the project back and came up with a compromise in terms of dollars and how to pay for it," Grayling City Council Member Kim McClain said. "I think this will be significant for our downtown and will be a positive step for the community that we can all be proud of." The city plans to issue bonds over a 20-year period to fund the downtown facelift. The city would pay $40,000 in city income taxes per year to help pay off the bond. A special assessment, which would raise $22,000 per year, would be levied on businesses in the DDA district. A millage, which would generate $18,000 per year, would also be collected from property owners. DDA officials are also taking the steps to include property and businesses along the South I-75 Business Loop in the DDA District.

Wilson named core trainer for True Colors program

Tracy Wilson, School Link Coordinator from MidMichigan Health Park in Houghton Lake, has been chosen to become a Core Trainer for the new True Colors' Program, True LoveStyles. True Colors is a nationally recognized program that is easy to use, fun and interactive, and helps people understand their own personality as well as the personalities of those around them and how they can improve their relationships. Erica Lowry developed the True LoveStyles Program after True Colors' participants repeatedly questioned her about how their True Colors might be impacting their marriages. It took more than two years of research and test marketing to get the program developed.

The True LoveStyles program is based on True Colors and is designed for couples to use either on their own or in a True LoveStyles seminar. The program approaches love relationships as real-life love stories. Each couple is the script-writer and lead characters in their own stories. Participants will understand their own character, history, motivations, conflicts, styles of interaction and strengths. The program encourages growth and understanding within the participant's relationship.

Seven trainers were chosen from the national base of True Colors trainers to become Core Trainers for the new program. "These seven trainers were personally selected for their strong commitment to both True Colors and for their passion for helping people in marriage relationships," said Ms. Lowry. The seven trainers will be at the True Colors Studios in Laguna Beach, Calif., June 26-28. The Core Training will be conducted by Erica and her husband, True Colors founder, Don Lowry.

With the knowledge that Core Trainers will gain, they will be able to work within their organizations to assist families, and also within their communities serving faith-based and other non-profit organizations. They will also be able to train other trainers on how to conduct a True LoveStyles seminar.

Wilson will also travel to Buena Vista, Calif., June 20-25, to attend the first International True Colors Association Annual Conference where she will certify in two Advanced Applications for True Colors, Communication and Teaching and Learning Styles. Tracy is currently a Level 3 True Colors Awareness Presenter and has been a certified True Colors presenter since 2001. True Colors presentations are provided as a community service of MidMichigan Health Park-Houghton and she has conducted workshops at schools, businesses and organizations all over Northern and Central Michigan.

She is a graduate of LaSalle High School in St. Ignace and Northern Michigan University in Marquette. She resides in Grayling with her husband and children.

For more information about True Colors visit www.TrueColors.com or www.TrueColorsStudios.com or contact Wilson at (989) 422-2117.

Michael Daren to present Lumberjack program at Hartwick Pines

Plan now to be at Hartwick Pines State Park on Saturday, July 1, at 7 p.m., to see Michael Daren's very popular "Past in Person" program about the Lumberjacks (or Shantyboys as they called themselves) in Northern Michigan in the 1870s. This highly entertaining program of music, song, and stories is sponsored by the Logging Museum at Hartwick Pines, a field site of the Michigan Historical Museum, and the friends of Hartwick Pines, and will take place at the amphitheater at the Logging Museum within the park, eight miles northeast of Grayling.

Journey into the past through the music, songs and tales of the lumberjacks who helped build America in the Nineteenth Century. This is a multi-faceted, audience-centered program that will educate, delight and enthrall all who attend. This program promises to get you on your feet! Michael Daren will portray a lumberjack from Northern Michigan in the 1870s as he takes his audience back to the time when they were "cutting the big sticks." He will play the concertina, fiddle, hammer dulcimer, bones, button accordion, and lumber toys and share songs and stories of life in the logging camps.

In the event of rain, the program will be at the Michigan Forest Visitor Center. Hartwick Pines State Park is located on M-93 (Hartwick Pines Rd.), two miles east of I-75, exit 259. There is no charge for this program, but a state park motor vehicle permit is required for entry into the park.

The daily permit is $6 and a yearly permit is $24 for Michigan residents and $8 for a daily and $29 for an annual permit for non-residents. For more information, please contact Hartwick Pines State Park at (989) 348-2537.

Construction has begun on the new 9,200 square foot medical office building next to Mercy Family Care Grayling.

New facility will house rehab and surgical services

The medical office building will feature a gym, whirlpool and therapy pool

Construction crews broke ground on June 16 for a new 9,200-square-foot medical office building on a site adjacent to the hospital's medical office building, Mercy Family Care Grayling.

The building will house Mercy Surgical Services on the upper level and the Rehabilitation Services on the lower level.

Mercy Surgical Services will house general surgery and orthopedic practices. The plans call for a waiting room, six exam rooms, two cast rooms, an X-ray laboratory, a procedure room, as well as other clinical and ancillary space.

Orthopedic Surgeon Darius A. Divina, D.O. will move his current office on the Mercy campus to the new facility once it is complete. He will be joined by general surgeons, Todd Prier, M.D., and Garrick Cvitkovich, M.D.

Mercy Grayling CEO Stephanie Riemer-Matuszak said the new facility will allow the hospital to expand and provide state-of-the-art services and equipment for patients.

"We are excited to be able to enhance the Rehabilitation Services we offer through the additional space and facilities this project allows," she said. Rehab Services will include a lobby area, gymnasium, aquatic therapy pool, five treatment rooms, a whirlpool and a locker room in addition to staff offices. The new treatment rooms will enhance patient comfort and privacy.

The aquatic therapy pool will be used to treat patients suffering from back and joint pain, arthritis, post surgical stiffness to athletic injuries.

Mercy's Rehabilitation Department offers physical, occupational, and speech therapy. Mercy also offers rehabilitation services at the Mercy Family Care Prudenville and Roscommon locations.

Burdeo Inc. of Traverse City is providing general contracting services for the project and estimates the facility will be completed in about five to six months.

VFW Independence Day Parade

This sentiment was backed by Yette Szkotnicki, recently retired quartermaster of the VFW.

"We celebrate the Fourth of July because it's a national holiday. It honors our veterans," said Szkotnicki.

She also emphasized that there is an infrastructure of support for the parade present in Grayling.

"A lot of people, especially the older people, like to come out to (the parade)," said Szkotnicki.

Although there is no float competition, there is a theme for this year's parade - "Shining Brightly." Participants are encouraged to submit floats that somehow tie into this broad theme.

There is still time to submit parade entries.

Interested parties may contact Bonnie Poll at 989-348-2139 for more details.

First two members to be inducted into Marathon Hall of Fame

■ Inductees to be introduced at dinner on Friday, July 28 at Grayling Holiday Inn

It's that time again! Marathon Time. Many of us feel the excitement start to build when we see the first sleek black racing canoes atop cars and trucks, and particularly when we see them in the river.

The AuSable River Canoe Marathon is an event, not just a race. Marathon paddlers make the event unique and special. It is this time of year when the competitors begin in earnest to hone their skills both day and night.

Despite the impressive nature of the efforts and accomplishments of current paddlers, many longtime Marathon fans will at some point reflect on those that have pioneered the event. Fans will remember the paddlers that have gone into the pitch black of night on the AuSable River's twisting course and through the ponds at Alcona Dam and to the final rush to the finish line at Oscoda. Some fans recall the Marathon paddlers in metal canoes that the fishermen now refer to as "tin cans."

In an effort to recognize the Marathon's heritage and honor the accomplishments of the event's competitors, the Marathon Committee has initiated a Marathon Hall of Fame Board. Beginning this year, a Hall of Fame Committee made up of two members of the Grayling Committee and two members of the Oscoda Committee along with the chairperson will select one male and one female as inductees into the Marathon Hall of Fame.

The two inductees will be introduced at a dinner to be held on Friday, July 28, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grayling Holiday Inn. The names of the inductees will be placed on the Hall of Fame Board, a special structure designed and built by master wood craftsman Joe Ferrigan to honor prior Marathon paddlers and others whose efforts have been instrumental in building the event.

The requirements for Marathon Hall of Fame consideration are: "1) The inductee must have contributed time and resources of whatever kind or nature, added innovations to procedures and assisted to the degree that either improved or continued the success of the Marathon; or 2) Exemplified the competitiveness, stamina, drive, strength of character, fair play, and ability to overcome obstacles while participating in the Marathon."

The committee will select one male and one female from nominations of which only one has to be a retired paddler. Additionally, starting this year, two names will be drawn from the dinner tickets and those two persons will become the official Marathon starters on Saturday evening.

"We urge and welcome everyone to come to the dinner to recognize the current paddlers and honor the Hall of Fame inductees as well as taking a chance at becoming one of the Marathon starters," Marathon officials said.

Dean Smith and Chef Larry at the Holiday Inn are presenting a new and delicious menu for the dinner - penne noodles with marinara or white sauce with chicken, Key West vegetable blend, garlic and Parmesan bread sticks, family-style salads with Italian or raspberry vinaigrette, and a triple layer chocolate or strawberry cake. Bon appetit!

GOLF

The second annual Friends For Miracles Golf Scramble, an event that raised about $2,000 for a local family, was held at Skyline's Hawk Ridge Golf Course on Saturday, May 20. The scramble included 10 teams this year.

The winning team consisted of Jodi Potter, Justin Potter, Jason Potter, and Rob Lawe. The team of Craig Stewart, Bill

Stewart, Ken Bolender, and Jeff Kiester placed second. Beth Wheeler, Laurie Jamison, Ken Potter, and Bill Johnson took third place.

Prizes were also awarded for closest to the pin shots (Robin Norton, Ken Bolender) and longest drive (Jodi Potter, Jeff Kiester).

After 18 holes of golf, participants enjoyed a prime rib dinner.

The prime rib was provided by JT's at Skyline and side dishes were provided by members of Friends For Miracles.

The event raised over $2,000. "The money will be donated to a local family with a child that has a life threatening disease or illness. It is our hope to ease the burden of a family by helping to pay for gas, hotels, etc. that occur during a long illness," event organizers said.

The money from this year's event will go to the Bergeron family. Michael Bergeron, a 2006 graduate of Kalkaska High School, was diagnosed with leukemia at a young age and is expected to undergo a bone marrow transplant this month. He is the son of Lisa Bergeron, a Hawk Ridge member who works in Grayling.

GRAYLING COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

Wednesday Ladies League

I knew it wouldn't be much longer before our weather changed to warm again and on Wednesday, June 14, we had blue sunny skies and smiling faces for our day of play. It was so pleasant and relaxing for all.

Very pleasant for these gals as in Flight A, Lynda Hetrick and Jeanette Kitchen tied for low net of 35 and there was a tie for low putts of 13 between Jeanette Kitchen and Mickey Perez.

In Flight B, Dorteia Carlson had a low net of 29 while Donna Grass had low putts of 15.

In Flight C, Ann Latusek had a low net of 38 and Rhea Gierke had low putts of 13.

There were no birdies today, but there were two chip-ins, one by Donna Grass on #3 and the other by Mickey Perez on #9.

The Cornell Insurance Mystery Hole was #9 this week and the winner of an umbrella was Dorteia Carlson for the longest putt on that hole.

Each week before play, our clubs have been brought up from storage for us, so Edie Blaha made a suggestion that a tip bowl be put out for the person doing it that day and we can all put in the amount we feel appropriate. It is a nice gesture and should be rewarded.

We had a nice lunch of either Sesame Shrimp Salad and a muffin, or a ham salad croissant sandwich with broccoli salad on the side.

A few of our gals reported seeing the trumpeter swan on the river with four or five cygnets. Looking forward to seeing this treat.

Until next week, that's all "fore" now.

GRAYLING LITTLE LEAGUE

Grayling Little League's 9th Annual Father's Day Tournament got off to a good start with all teams at a 1-1 tie at the end of the first day of games on Saturday. Six teams participated in the tournament as a precursor to all-star play in July.

Pine River, Roscommon, West Branch, Charlevoix, Lewiston, and Grayling each played two games on Saturday on a rotating schedule.

The tournament will be decided by the best of three record with the least runs allowed as a tie breaker.

At the end of Saturday's games, Grayling was in the lead in the tie breaker with nine runs allowed. Grayling lost 6-5 in the first game to Lewiston and beat Pine River 7-3.

On Sunday, the 9 a.m. game got under way on time but went to a rain delay. Eventually that game was completed, but the final two games of the day and the championship game had to be postponed. Those games have been rescheduled for Friday, June 23, with Grayling facing West Branch at 5 p.m. and Pine River and Charlevoix facing off at 7 p.m. The championship game will be played under the lights at 9 p.m.

The public is welcome, admission is free.

KIRTLAND BASKETBALL

The Firebirds of Kirtland Community College have signed Travis Lynn, a 6-foot guard from Brimley, in the Upper Peninsula, to a National Junior College Letter of Intent, according to Kirtland's men's basketball coach Glen Donahue.

"He was highly recommended to me and is a very talented four-sport athlete who was selected to the All-Conference and All Upper Peninsula All Star teams," said Firebirds assistant coach Craig Hofman. "He fits in very well with our up-tempo style. He has lots of skills and speed."

This season in Brimley, Lynn averaged 18.5 points, 7.6 rebounds, 6.8 assists, and 4.4 steals per game, helping his team to a 16-win, 5-loss season.

"Travis is extremely dedicated to the game of basketball," said renowned Brimley Athletic Director Dick Amble.

With the commencement of practice this fall, the men's and women's Firebirds basketball teams enter their sixth season as members of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's Eastern Conference. The college has rounded out its athletic offerings with cross country and golf. For more on Firebirds athletics, log in at www.firebirds.kirtland.edu, or call 989-275-5000, ext. 385.
